You Don't 'Create'
1 Billion Dollars
Out of Thin Air

Back in depression days the first administration of F. D. Roosevelt seized all privately-owned gold coin, and currency which required its exchange for gold coin on demand, and made the people take instead mere IOU greenbacks.

This hoard of gold later was buried at Fort Knox. And while the government played footsie from time to time with our doubtful paper money it must be said in all fairness that neither the late Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Truman ever touched any of the gold.

But this week, as you noted on yesterday's front page, the Eisenhower administration had to go and get some of it.

Our Washington press dispatch contained this curious paragraph: "Treasury officials said the maneuver was neither inflationary nor deflationary—simply a bookkeeping shift of funds."

That is strictly hog-wash. Half a billion dollars of the gold is gone, dug up to take out of circulation an equivalent amount of government bonds held by the Federal Reserve System. The Eisenhower administration was confronted with the dilemma of managing current government operations under a legal debt limit of 275 billion dollars which congress had refused to increase—and it pulled the half-billion in gold to knock out just enough bonds to keep inside the deadline. To have overrun the deadline would have clouded the title of all new government bond issues.

The Treasury statement about "no inflation" is hog-wash because any increase in either unsupported greenbacks or interest-free debt is inflationary for a fact. It would have been much better had congress authorized an increase in the debt ceiling, permitting issuance of additional interest-bearing bonds, whose cost would have been covered by taxes.

But as matters stand the government has "created" half a billion dollars out of thin air—no pain, no toil, no cost.

Citizens should raise hell, get the debt limit increased, cover the deficiency with new bonds, and have that missing gold put back in Fort Knox.

Remember that the gold came from individual Americans to begin with, and once you permit a little tinkering with the national safe another generation of politicians will make off with the hoard and the vault to boot.

This is a cumulative debt problem that belongs to all the national administrations clear back to Herbert Hoover; nevertheless it has got to be met on the floor of congress—not by desperate sleight-of-hand action in the gold rooms under Fort Knox.

Christine Hints of Engagement

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Christine Jorgensen said today that her friendship with a Washington, D. C. portrait painter—who sends the ex-GI a dozen roses daily—"might" lead to an engagement.

Christine, who underwent a series of sexual operations in Denmark said that the artist Patrick Flanagan, 29, also had given a ring. But Christine was not wearing it because Flanagan is married although separated from his wife. Christine, currently appearing here as a night club entertainer, said Flanagan painted two portraits of the ex-GI in the East. Christine plans to see him either in New York or Washington in December. The entertainer denied any marriage plans.

Asked about marriage, Christine said, "Oh yes, I'll marry, but right now I'm working on a new show."

The number of men called, by boards, include: Rogers, 7; De Witt, 2; Hamburg, 3; Harris, 2; Warren, 2; Arkadelphia, 2; Magnolia, 6; Morrilton, 2; Jonesboro, 10; Van Buren, 2; Wynne, 2; McGehee, 3; Conway, 4; Hot Springs, 6; Paragould, 6; HOPE, 2; Malvern, 3; Batesville, 3; Pine Bluff, 6; Marianna, 2; Lonoke, 3; Texarkana, 2; Blytheville, 10; Camden, 6; Helena, 3; Mena, 2; Russellville, 2; Greaser, Little Rock, 15; Forrest City, 3; Benton, 5; Fort Smith, 5; De Queen, 1; El Dorado, 7; Fayetteville, 6; and Searcy, 7.

Man Pays Off After Two Years

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two years ago friends of Gene Dorsey contributed 710 to replace his seeing eye dog that had been killed by a car.

Yesterday the 152 contributors got back their donations, along with a for milder than Dorsey. He said his vision had improved, and that he felt obligated to return the donations.

After his dog was killed in 1951, Dorsey, a 50-year-old magazine salesman, said his eyesight began improving. At one time he had only been able to distinguish only light and dark.

Wreck Victim May Have Been Missing Marsh

CLINTON, Ky. (UP)—The sheriff's office here said today a hitchhiker killed in an auto accident last Saturday was believed to have been Thomas John Marsh, the former convict once implicated in the Bobby Greenlease kidnapping case.

Deputy Sheriff William Humphreys said the description of the man "fitted almost perfectly" that of the tattooed Marsh who was once named as the killer of Bobby Greenlease by Carl Austin Hall, but cleared by Hall's later confession.

The FBI in St. Louis had "no comment" on the report.

Humphreys said the man was killed in a two-car collision on U.S. Highway 51 near Clinton Saturday. He was riding with an Ike Evans of Clinton.

Evans was critically hurt in the accident and officers have been unable to question him.

Humphreys said county officials had intended to bury the body of the hitchhiker yesterday but that Kentucky State Police and the FBI had halted the burial until they could check the identification.

Humphreys said no money was found on the man's body but that papers on him said he was from Mexico, Mo.

Mitchell In Another Blast at Spy Case

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, launching a fence-mending tour of Louisiana today, called the Harry Dexter White spy case a Republican "political circus."

Mitchell, who joins a "friendly get-together of Louisiana party leaders at Baton Rouge later today, was yet to comment on the apparent Republican victory in the California congressional election.

Mitchell retired last night before election results were clear. He was the guest of Louisiana's national Democratic committeeman Frank B. Ellis, during his stop-over here.

Mitchell was invited by Ellis to address the meeting which was called to organize a Democratic party fund solicitation by congressional districts. Assigned ca $20,000, Louisiana had raised $2,500 so far. Mitchell termed the meeting "just a friendly get-together."

The powerful central committee refused to endorse Democratic Nominee Alden Stevenson in the 1952 presidential race or to approve the party's platform.

Although the meeting was "unofficial," and open to the public, political firestorms were expected beforehand. A group of Democrats in the presidential race led by Gov. Robert F. Kennon were staunch supporters of President Eisenhower. Other remained neutral, with the majority standing loyal to the party.

Four More Report Killing Deer

Four more have reported killing that "buck" through noon today.

They are: R. M. Yarberry, two points, 150 pounds; W. Y. Ferguson, two points; Tom Yocum, six points, 200 pounder Fred H. Luck eight bagged on the Belton farm of John Lewis on Monday.

Santa Claus Is the Fellow That Started the World's Oldest Giveaway Program

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Santa Claus always was a kindly old fellow, but a mighty poor businessman.

"Charity begins at home," his wife kept telling him. But every year Santa came home each Christmas dawn, broke but happy from the world's oldest giveaway program. He never made a cent through the centuries.

Well, they've finally got the mellow old spendthrift organized on a sensible basis that proves philanthropy doesn't have to be a red ink venture. Santa Claus is now on a payroll and pays income taxes to Uncle Sam. And so do all his merry little elves.

The financial transformation of Santa began in the ghastly mind of Harold Fortune, an ex-horseman show entrepreneur who had turned into a country club rescuer. A country club rescuer is a man who, for a fee, saves insolvent

Magsaysay Is Likely Winner in Philippines

By DON HUTH
MANILA, (AP)—Ramon Magsaysay today held what appeared to be an overwhelming lead in the Philippines' presidential race over President Elpidio Quirino.

Latest unofficial tabulation gave Magsaysay 902,077 and Quirino 341,007.

An estimated 4,760,000 votes—a record—were cast in yesterday's national election.

Magsaysay, 46-year-old former guerrilla and recent defense secretary under Quirino, told newsmen "initial reports seem to be encouraging" but "it's too early" to form any definitive opinion; we must wait for further reports and developments.

There was no indication that the 62-year-old President and Liberal party leader was ready to concede.

The challenger appeared to be running strongly even in districts which Quirino had expected to capture by a landslide.

As returns began coming in from outlying districts Quirino cut Magsaysay's margin slightly. But there appeared to be no hope of his taking the lead.

In the vice presidential race, Nacionalista Carlos P. Garcia led his Liberal party opponent Jose P. Yulo 766,279 to 379,165.

The heavy vote for Magsaysay was putting all Nacionalista-Democratic coalition candidates for Continued on Page Three

Tipton Relief Manager for Hope Theaters

Ray Tipton of Pine Bluff is managing Hope's theaters—the Saenger, Rialto, and Drive-in—this week and next during the vacation of Manager Eldon Coffman. Mr. and Mrs. Coffman and their small daughter left Tuesday night for Russellville where they will visit their families.

Mr. Tipton, who arrived in Hope Tuesday, is assistant city manager for the same organization. M. S. McCord's United Theatres, in Pine Bluff, the houses there being named the Saenger, Malco, and Strand.

During school days he played football for his native Fordyce, and appeared on the local field back in 1944, as he recalls when they met the Bobcats—and lost.

Mrs. Schill points out that since its founding in 1914 the Ladies Auxiliary has been giving American flags to schools, to civic and church groups. The Ladies Auxiliary also conducts programs in both youth and adult education in Americanism.

In addition the "VFW Auxiliary Patriotic Center" will endeavor to list local recreation facilities, radio and TV shows, parades, and special community events commemorating America and American history.

Mrs. Cecil O'Steen will be chairman of the VFW Auxiliary Patriotic Center here.

J. E. Woodul, 73, Dies at Home Near Sutton

James Edgar Woodul, aged 73, died suddenly late Tuesday at his home near Sutton, in Nevada County.

He is survived by his wife, Viola, two daughters, Mrs. Lois Clanton and Mrs. Jess Hamilton and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Harmony by Reverend Wesley Thompson. Burial will be at Hazzard.

Questioning of Prisoners Is Near Collapse

By JOHN RANDOLPH
PANMUNJOM (AP)—Interviews with North Korean and Chinese war prisoners who have refused to go home were canceled today for the sixth consecutive day as the tottering explanation program moved nearer collapse.

The Indian custodial command almost automatically called off interviewers scheduled for tomorrow after the Communists insisted again on seeing 363 Chinese prisoners missed last Thursday by stalling Red persuaders.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, India chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC), stayed at his headquarters here, apparently ready to make a second trip to Kaesong to talk with the Red high command.

Thimayya went to Kaesong Monday to start the stalled program.

There was no indication the Reds were ready to accept new rules laid down by Thimayya. The Indian general had told the Communists to interview entire compounds of 500 men each in a day or skip those who are not interviewed.

Thimayya has said Indian troops would flush screening the prisoners if the Communists explanation program is called off.

Slavs Seeking Compromise on Trieste

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslav leaders have called for a compromise solution to the bitter quarrel over Trieste, accusing Italy of attempting to use the issue to force a breach between Yugoslavia and the West.

The government's position was outlined last night by two of President Tito's top aides, Vice President Edward Kardelj and Vice President Moshopijade in election ring speeches at Ljubljana and Belgrade.

Kardelj, the administration's foreign policy maker, took a more optimistic line than some other members of the government have done since the British-American Oct. 8 announcement of their decision to turn Zone A of the Trieste free territory over to Italy.

"Let us sit down at the green table and let us look for a compromise solution with our perspective on future Italian-Yugoslav relations," Kardelj said. He was careful to emphasize, however, that Yugoslav would never participate in any talks which had Italian occupation of Zone A as an agenda. Pjajade followed much the advance condition for the meeting.

Britain and the United States still say they intend to carry out their pledge to turn Zone A over to Italy but have avoided setting any date for withdrawal of the 7,000-man Allied garrison. Yugoslavia, which controls the territory's Zone B, has threatened to march on Zone A the moment Italian troops enter.

President Leads Tribute to War Dead

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower paid the traditional silent tribute to the honored dead of America's wars at Armistice Day ceremonies in Arlington National Cemetery today.

The President arrived by car at the tomb of the unknown soldier of World War I five minutes before the appointed hour of 11 o'clock. As the hour struck, the chief executive, his aides and the civilian and military chiefs of the services bowed their heads in silence for one minute, facing the tomb and the city of Washington.

On behalf of the nation the President placed a large wreath of yellow chrysanthemums at the base of the tomb and then drew back a few paces while the honor guard representing all of the services, and patriotic organizations, stood at attention.

The President left the cemetery a few minutes later, just before the memorial services in the Arlington amphitheater. The chief speaker there was Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

Overturning the addresses of national leaders who spoke throughout the country was the theme of a quest for enduring peace, which World Wars I and II failed to win.

Ike Feels Truman, Clark Should Not Have Been Subpoenaed to Testify

Byrnes Refuses to Comply to Subpoena

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—Gov. James P. Byrnes of South Carolina today refused to comply with a subpoena to testify tomorrow before the House Un-American Activities committee.

A representative of the committee last night served Byrnes with a subpoena at his state house of office here, summoning him to testify tomorrow on what he knows about the late Harry Dexter White's affiliation with communism.

Byrnes today telegraphed Rep. Harold Velde, chairman of the committee "with great respect for the House of Representatives in which I served for 14 years, and with due respect for your committee, I must refuse to comply with this summons."

"As chief executive of South Carolina, I cannot, by appearing in response to this summons, admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return," Byrnes said.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Harold H. Velde of the House Un-American Activities committee said today he plans to go ahead with his calling of former President Harry S. Truman in the Harry Dexter White case.

The Illinois Republican, who arrived in Washington a little before noon, said President Eisenhower's remarks would cause no change in plans to hear former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and former Presidential Aide Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan tomorrow, and Mr. Truman and associate Justice Tom C. Clark on Friday.

Velde said "no comment" when told that President Eisenhower had said he personally would not have subpoenaed Mr. Truman.

"It's just a private citizen," Velde said of Mr. Truman. Velde said he preferred that all of the hearings be secret, but said that if Mr. Truman and the others prefer a public session he would be willing to have it that way.

Asked about Mr. Eisenhower's comments that he could not believe that Mr. Truman had knowingly promoted a spy, Velde said "of course, that's what we like to find out."

Officers Work Fire, Theft and Wreck

Hope City police yesterday investigated a theft from a parked auto, put out a blazing auto and probed an auto accident.

Billy Webb of Ozon reported a Navy jacket stolen from his auto which was parked downtown on Main street. A pickup truck parked near the police station caught fire and officers extinguished the blaze and a wreck on South Main resulted in heavy damages to automobiles driven by Cliff Stewart and C. W. Johnson officers reported.

About 75 per cent of U. S. farms have autos.

All Around the Town

By The Star Staff
Today is November 11, Armistice Day and while many cities over the nation observe it, practically no notice is given in Hope. . . . In fact many people wouldn't remember Armistice Day if the banks and postoffice didn't close. . . . however, a few each year put flags out in front of downtown stores but for the most part that custom too is forgotten. . . . the flag is out in front of the Star office today, thanks entirely to George Smith Jr., our pressman, who always remembers holidays. . . . I confess nobody else in the office thought of it or at least didn't do anything about it. . . . but "Boots" did as always.

Don't forget this week has a Friday the 13, a day viewed with alarm by many. . . . not superstitions but just the same I'm not going to take any unusual chances.

Scouts Told to Stop Fires, Grow More Timber

Stop forest fires and grow more timber, was the subject of an interesting program brought to the Boy Scouts of Troop 90 at the VFW Hall Monday night by Buster Dorton of the Forestry Commission and George Brown of the Soil Conservation Service.

Mr. Dorton illustrated his talk with a series of colored slides. Each Scout was presented with a penny bank made from Southern Pine, and with three booklets: "A Visit to the Forest," "Youth Can Help Conserve," and "Trees-A-Ten Million Dollar Crop in Hempstead County."

The Scouts will assist in Hempstead County Forest Conservation Week, starting November 15, by distributing car bumper signs carrying the messages, "Stop Woods Fires," and "Plant More Trees."

Emergency Loans to Stockmen

More than $11,000,000 in special livestock loans has been made to approximately 1,100 farmers and ranchers throughout the United States and nearly 600 other applications are being considered, W. M. Sparks, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor for Hempstead County, reported this week.

The special livestock loan program authorized last July, helps established producers of cattle, sheep, and goats to maintain their herds, Mr. Sparks said. The producers who can borrow are those with good past records of livestock production but who are temporarily unable to get adequate credit from commercial banks, cooperative lending agencies, or other responsible sources to enable them to go ahead with normal livestock operations. They must have reasonable prospects of success with the help of a loan. Commercial feed lot operators are not included.

Applications can be made at the county Farmers Home Administration office at the courthouse in Hope. Committees authorized by Secretary of Agriculture Benson approve the loans. Applications for more than $50,000 must have final approval by the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington.

A borrower may use his loan funds for usual expenses of carrying on a livestock operation, including restocking his herd up to the number he held before he had to reduce his herd.

The five percent loans may be amortized over a three year period and secured by the best lien possible on the borrower's property and his personal obligation to repay the borrowed money. Other creditors, although not asked to subordinate their claims, are expected to agree to send by so the farmer can have a fair chance to work out his difficulties. Agreements are made out to let the farmer apply a reasonable part of his livestock income to repaying the special livestock loan.

Wants Change of Senior Senators

FAYETTEVILLE (AP)—Sid McMuth, who was defeated for a third term as Arkansas governor last year, suggested here last night that Arkansas make Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) its senior senator.

McMuth, although he has not announced, is considered a likely candidate for the seat now held by the state's senior senator, John McClellan.

He also said Arkansas Democrats should begin working toward placing Fulbright on the national ticket as a candidate for vice president or president in 1958.

Should all this take place and Fulbright be elected, the man who replaced McClellan, would become the state's senior senator.

McMuth did not expand any of his statements.

Insists Truman Not Knowingly Named a Spy

By FEX CHANEY
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he believes former President Truman and Associate Justice Tom C. Clark should not have been subpoenaed by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The chief executive, in answer to news conference questions, also said he did not believe Mr. Truman had knowingly appointed a man identified as a Communist spy to public office.

Mr. Eisenhower said he found such a conclusion inconceivable and did not believe a man in the presidency would knowingly injure the United States.

There was no certainty yet whether Mr. Truman and Gov. James P. Byrnes of South Carolina, Mr. Truman's former secretary of state, planned to appear—even though they accepted service of subpoenas. Supreme Court Justice Clark was expected to ignore a subpoena issued for him.

Snyder Is Accused of Fixing Taxes

WASHINGTON (UP)—House tax investigators charged today that treasury officials under the Truman administration made "improper decisions" in tax cases that cost the government more than $10,000,000.

The investigators said the officials, including former Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, intervened in tax cases for "political or personal reasons" and "brought influence to bear to produce questionable results favorable to the taxpayer."

The charge was made in the first of a series of final reports by a House ways and means subcommittee which has spent two years investigating irregularities in the federal tax system.

The report said political appointments, irregular handling of tax cases, and corruption among officials of the Internal Revenue Service left the federal tax system in a state of "decay" after World War II.

The two cases alleged to have resulted in a $10,000,000 revenue loss involved the Monsanto Chemical Co. of St. Louis, and the family of William F. Landon of Kansas, N. Y. In both instances, the report said lawyers went directly to Snyder and received "favorable rulings."

Snyder told reporters in Wash., D. C., that "I had no interest other than the interest of justice." "I have never believed that the federal government has the right to assess taxes not intended by law," he said. "In these two cases, the conclusion reached were clearly in accord with the intent of the law."

The subcommittee recalled previously published testimony that William Maycock, then counsel of the Democratic National Committee, received a $85,000 fee for helping to get a favorable ruling in the Landon case; Maycock told the subcommittee he gave $30,000 of the fee to the Democratic campaign chest.

The subcommittee's report said the fact that Henry W. Grunwald, now in jail for contempt of Congress, was a friend of important tax officials, "is itself an indication of the moral climate in which tax matters were handled."

In the third collection district of New York and in the collector's office in San Francisco, the subcommittee said it found "instances of improper management for 'cronies' which had been known to the bureau for years and which had gone uncorrected."

Burglars Loot P. B. Drug Store

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — Burglars looted a drug store here over the weekend of about $300 worth of narcotics and nearly $1,500 in cash. A large gas bomb which had been concealed in the safe at Spillway's Drug Co., drove out the thieves.

Police Chief Mel Gallagher said the burglars took between $300 and $500 in drugs late Saturday night or early Sunday. They forced open a cabinet and got about $250. The safe was blown open, netting the burglars another $1,000 — and also a cash register.

An employee of the store discovered the theft yesterday.

Israel Blamed for Recent Uprising

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Three have denounced Israel before the U. N. for the recent killing of 53 Arabs in the Jordan border village of Kibya. But they have agreed to hold off a call for Security Council action until both sides have their say.

Israel's Chief Delegate Abba Eban told the council he will plead his government's case when the hearing is resumed Thursday. Eban, meanwhile, faced another going-over today before the council on neighboring Syria's complaint that it is stealing the life-giving waters of the Jordan from Arab farmers by diverting the river for an Israeli hydroelectric project.

Israel agreed—at the U. N.'s behest—to halt work on the Jordan project while the council debates the Syrian complaint. But Israeli sources indicated last night if the council does not take action soon, they will seek permission to resume work.

Ridgway Against Premature Withdrawal

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway spoke out last night against "any premature withdrawal or ill-considered weakening" of U. S. Army strength overseas.

"Such a reduction would be a 'grievous blow to freedom,'" the Army's chief of staff declared in a pointed reference to recent high-level suggestions that new weapons and new strategies might eventually lessen the role and strength of the Army abroad the world.

Ridgway spoke to the American Ordnance Assn.

Rails Asked to Help Transport Hay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Cherry has asked the Association of Western Railroads to extend and expand railroad freight rates to help drought-stricken states in their emergency feed programs.

Cherry said yesterday he sent a telegram to D. P. Loomis of Chicago, chairman of the AWR, asking that the coverage be extended to include cotton seed hulls, rice hulls and corn cob hulls—all used as supplemental feed for cattle.

He asked the railroads to extend indefinitely the time the railroads will haul hay for emergency feed programs at half the usual rate. The deadline now is Nov. 18. Under the plan the federal government pays half the reduced rate, leaving the farmer only 1/4 of the original rate to pay.

The governor also said that Arkansas farmers already have applied for 90 carloads of hay—about 1,400 tons—and that the first shipment of hay at the reduced rate had arrived in Paragould.

Fifty-four counties in Arkansas are eligible for drought relief.

Burman Halts Evacuation or Refugees

By G. CHVALA

BANGKOK, Thailand (UP)—Burma has abruptly halted the evacuation of Chinese Nationalist troops from Burmese border areas, it was reported here today.

Press dispatches from the border and Burmese officials halted 20 departing soldiers yesterday, charging that they were not Chinese but "Shan (Burmese) rebels." Fifty other Nationalists were allowed to cross the border into Thailand to board planes bound for the Chinese fortress island of Formosa, but two groups, which had been scheduled to pass the checkpoint after the alleged rebels, melted back into the jungle.

Thai officials would not say how from the evacuation would be resumed. Some high Thai Army officers, however, expressed fears that the Burmese might ask the Communists in China for help in dealing with the Nationalists—a step which they said could touch off World War III.

So far, 154 of an estimated 2,000 Nationalists who had been hiding out in the Burmese jungle have been flown to Formosa, and the 50 who cleared the border yesterday were waiting at Lampang airfield for transportation.

Another report reaching here said newsmen covering the Lampang end of the operation had been ordered to return to Bangkok. No explanation was offered for the order, the report said.

Burmese officials had displayed considerable tension over the evacuation since it began, although no trouble had been reported until today.

Glass Plant Plans Being Revised

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Westinghouse Corp. official said construction on a $6,000,000 glass plant near Hot Springs, Ark., has been suspended to allow complete revision of plans.

P. M. Sloan, manager of Westinghouse's lamp division, said "plans for utilization of the new plant are being revised and this has made it necessary to temporarily delay completion of the structure."

Sloan said final plans for the plant would be announced as soon as the necessary decisions are reached.

Social Whirl Started by Margaret

By MARGRET SVILLE

LONDON (UP)—Vivacious Princess Margaret, with a new sophisticated halo, has started on a crowded winter program of social and official activities.

In the social phase she has a routine of possible suitors ranging from Lord Carnegie who is also of the blood royal to the Rev. Simon Phipps, a Church of England clergyman whom many regard as a matrimonial dark horse.

The gay and sparkling princess, 24, has a new hairdo which sweeps her dark brown curls back from her forehead and over her ears.

She also has some new dresses, new furs and six new pillbox hats for the winter season.

The prospective amendment of the Regency act, which will relieve Margaret of the enormous burden of being regent for Prince Charles in event that the queen dies, will give her more freedom to think of her own life.

Persons close to the royal court are wondering when the moment will come when Margaret will read her heart and decide to what man she will propose marriage — she chooses a royal prince, and there is no royal prince in sight.

First favorite as a likely husband is Lord Carnarvon 24, the only one of her courtiers who can call her "Margaret." He can do that because he, too, is of royal blood and is her second cousin. Others must call her "your royal highness" or "ma'am."

Lord Carnarvon is regarded as ideally suitable, childhood friend of the princess, he has everything required for the husband of a British princess.

But there are a number of other suitors.

Lord Porchester, 29, heir to the Earl of Carnarvon, is probably Margaret's favorite dancing partner. "Harry dances divinely," she has often told friends. At big balls she keeps him on the floor until early morning.

Lord Plunkett, 30, handsome and fair-haired, is one of the queen's favorites. Like the princess, he is very musical. But "Put," as the princess calls him, is a Roman Catholic. That fact would be a barrier to marriage into the royal family unless he changed his faith to that of the Church of England.

Billy Wallace, dark, wealthy son of Mrs. "Barbie" Agat, wife of American Author Herbert Agar, is one of the luminaries of London's aristocratic young set. Wallace, 27, works in a bank, collects jazz records like the princess, and takes her to dine by candlelight in little restaurants in Soho, which is somewhat like New York's Greenwich Village.

Peter Ward, 27 like Wallace, also is untitled but wealthy. He is related, however, to the family of the Earl of Dudley. Margaret, her pretty lady-in-waiting Iris Peake, Ward and Wallace, often make up an evening foursome. Margaret loves Ward a 100-mile-an-hour scarlet sports car in which the four sometimes drive home in the wee hours.

Tom Egerton, taciturn and devoted to country life, is the rich son of a Sussex county squire. Margaret has often been a guest at his home, walking with him around his farms and through the woods riding and playing clock golf on the lawn.

The Rev. Simon Phipps, 31, is chaplain of Trinity College, Cambridge University—a post of prominence from which he might some day rise to be an archbishop. Some think that Margaret's recent deeper interest in religion owes much to the spiritual guidance she has received from this close friend of the royal family. He travelled across England to attend Margaret's 21st birthday party and led her out for the second dance after her father the late King George VI opened the ball with her.

Three Perish in House Fire

OSCEOLA, Ark.—Three Negro children perished last night when an oil stove explosion set fire to their home, a two-story frame house six miles south of here.

The dead were Lois Jene Reeves, 5, Essie Lee, 3, and Douglas, eight months. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reeves. Both of the parents were away from home when the blast and flames leveled the house. Reeves was walking to a grocery store. He saw the flames and ran back to the house but was unable to rescue his children.

Reeves' wife and an eight-months-old daughter, a twin to the dead infant, were visiting. Six persons have died in fires in Mississippi County in the last two weeks. Since last January, 20 persons have lost their lives in house fires.

Transfers Would Be Truman Assassin

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UP)—Oscar Collazo, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in an assassination attempt on Harry S. Truman while he was president, has been transferred to the federal prison here, Warden C. H. Looney confirmed today.

Collazo was convicted of the murder of a White House guard during the attempt on Mr. Truman's life. He was moved to Leavenworth several days ago from the federal prison at Atlanta.

A Puerto Rican Nationalist, Collazo was originally sentenced to death. Seven days before the execution, Aug. 1, 1952, the White House announced the sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

for advertising, too!

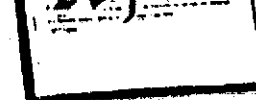

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Insists Truman

But Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Mr. Truman's former military aide and one-time assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Byrne, were set to testify tomorrow. Byrne was subpoenaed to testify Thursday.

The House committee moved in with the subpoena after Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., blew the lid off the White case last Friday in a Chicago speech assailing Mr. Truman of promoting White in 1946 despite two FBI reports calling White a spy for Russia. Mrs. Truman denied having seen such reports, but Byrne contradicted him.

In New York, Mr. Truman blamed the Republican "snollygosters" for the furor over the White case. He volunteered a definition for reporters, saying this was a southern term for "a man born out of wedlock."

Mr. Eisenhower today expressed full confidence in Brownell for having brought the White case to new public attention.

He said that when Brownell told him of the matter and his feeling of duty to make it public, the president told him that was a matter for his (Brownell's) conscience.

Then the President repeated one of his favorite themes that he was not going to be in the position of criticizing Congress for carrying out what Congress conceives to be its duties.

He said Congress has a perfect right to conduct investigations. But as a purely personal opinion, Mr. Eisenhower said that if the choice was his, he would not issue such a subpoena.

When he was asked whether a Supreme Court justice should be subpoenaed, the President pointed out that the is not a constitutional expert or a practicing attorney. But again as a purely personal opinion, he probably would not do it.

The President at several points Mac Stuart as hostess.

Red roses and red chrysanthemums were used in decorating the entertaining rooms.

The President, Mrs. Franklin Horton, was in charge of the business session. Reports were given by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Herbert Stephens, and by the treasurer, Mrs. F. C. Crow.

The exemplification of the ritual was presented by the chapter officers, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Stuart, Mrs. Walter Sims and Mrs. Ferrell Baker.

Mrs. Byron Gordon, state president of PEO, and Mrs. Martha Brooks of DeQueen were guests. The hostess assisted by Miss Beryl Henry and Mrs. C. V. Nunn served a dessert course with coffee.

Guest Speaker
At W. S. C. S. Meeting

On November 9, at 2 p. m., Mrs. M. E. Scott of Stamps, Conference Secretary of Missionary Education and Service, was guest speaker at the Union Meeting of the W. S. C. S. of the First Methodist Church.

She gave a report on the Congress on World Missions held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Scott stressed the need for more workers in the mission field. At the conclusion of her talk, a recording by Janet Surdam and Luella Koecher, missionaries imprisoned by the Communists in West China, was played.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Ralph Rounton who used as her theme "Faith in the Future" along with Romans 8:28.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. L. B. Tooley, president. Announcement was made of a sub district meeting which will be held in Spring Hill on Tuesday, November 17, at 1:30 p. m. Miss Dorothy Kelley, District Worker, will be guest speaker.

Quarterly reports were given by the circle chairmen. In the circle count Circle 3, Mrs. Jolly Byers, Chairman, had the highest number of members present.

The meeting was closed with the benediction.

costume make toys, and operate a pottery shop. Two hundred animals—Reindeer, peacocks, goats, ducks, and rabbits—wander through the village. There are a number of nursery rhyme characters, including bee-beep, who is followed by her sheep.

Children under ten are admitted free, adults pay a dollar each. The fairyland village has had 2,234,826 visitors in four years, thousands of whom toss coins in a wishing well to buy Christmas toys.

The corporation that operates Santas workshop chips in a share of receipts for this purpose, too. By Christmas this year it will have distributed since the opening date some 67,710 toys costing $43,075.

The Esso Standard Oil Company supplies an airplane for Santa's journey. This year his safari includes stopovers at 34 airports, where groups of orphan and other underprivileged children will be given candy and Christmas presents.

Is the whole project philanthropy or just another Christmas business? Both, said Fortune.

"We are a commercial venture," he said, "and we pay an income tax. But we do a lot of good that otherwise wouldn't get done, and I don't mind telling you I feel good on Christmas morning."

Fortune, who devotes a third of the year to organizing the toy distribution program, would like to find a way to do more for orphans than give them a Christmas handout.

"You know, at a certain age they have to push them out in the world, to make room in the orphanages for the younger ones," he said, "and often they aren't ready."

"I'd like to establish a craft school of some kind at Santa's workshop to teach these kids a way to make a living. If I could do that, I wouldn't mind if I died the next day."

He paused, and smiled.

"What am I saying? But that's my goal."

eight Senate seats with him.

In the race for 102 Congressional seats, coalition candidates were leading in 28 of 34 districts reporting.

The vote counting proceeded slowly and complete returns were not expected for at least two or three days.

Political observers generally agreed that the election was one of the cleanest ever held in the Philippines.

Sporadic violence claimed at least eight lives, but in most precincts voting was quiet, orderly and heavy.

Magsaysay watched returns come in by teletype at a private home in Quezon city.

While he did not formally claim victory, he told newsmen, "If the elections were generally clean and peaceful and provided the counting of votes is not marred by fraud, falsification . . . and other deceptions the coalition will win a sweeping victory."

House Speaker Eugenio Perez, president of the Liberal party, said Magsaysay could win by an unprecedented total. He added, however, that he was not ready to concede yet.

"I am sportsmanlike enough to concede victory when victory is clear," Perez said.

Scattered reports of election disturbances still filtered into consular headquarters here. Army troops were sent to Baybay in Leyte province when armed men reportedly tried to steal the ballot boxes.

Magsaysay leaned heavily during the campaign on charges of corruption in Quirino's administration. Quirino denied the charges and campaigned for re-election on his record of economic improvements in the islands.

Quirino also accused Magsaysay of encouraging U.S. intervention in Philippine affairs. Both candidates are considered friendly to the United States, however.

Magsaysay won fame as a campaigner against Communism—Jed Hugs while Quirino's defense secretary. But he split with Quirino in his jammed news conference warring against veering toward extremes in combating Communism. He said it is a simple fact that there must be never-ending battle between the American concept of freedom and the ideology of regimentation and slavery.

He said Communism is attacking the American concept in many ways—by force, by boring within. He said there had been spying of all kinds going on in this country, stealing of secrets.

But, he added, the people of America must be careful how they apply their own power. Americans must be vigilant against Communism without destroying the very things they are attempting to defend.

The chief executive said that he would not at any time be a party to injustice for anyone and he is confident that his attorney general is proceeding along the paths of justice.

A reporter in a series of questions tried to draw Mr. Eisenhower whether he thought former officials should be protected from having to come back to Washington and explain their conduct to congressional committees.

Mr. Truman's

Recollection Challenged

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Eisenhower administration began its attack on former President Truman's handling of Harry Dexter White, who died five years ago, by questioning if not his motives, at least his judgment.

Now Truman's recollection, if not his truthfulness, is being challenged.

Truman, in a manner typical of his early White House days, answered fast, shooting from the hip, when the attack began. "I don't recall that such a thing happened," he said. Now more cautious, as he was later in the presidency, he is replying to questions with "no comment."

The unfolding drama already is a playwright's dream, including so far in its cast of characters three dead men in addition to Truman, President Eisenhower, Atty. Gen. Brownell, Congress, members of the Truman cabinet, and others.

In the past few days the drama just began last Friday. It appears to have picked up enough speed to carry it far into the headlines of 1954. Congressional investigations, which began Thursday, should give it added thrust.

When he fired his first shot at Truman Friday with Eisenhower's blessing, Brownell said the White House had been informed by the FBI in December 1945 and February 1946 that White, then an assistant secretary of the Treasury, was a spy for Russia.

Brownell said that in the face of these FBI reports, Truman nominated White to represent the United States on the International Monetary Fund and then appointed him after the Senate, without being told of the FBI reports, gave its approval.

Truman responded promptly. He said he had no such recollection but "as soon as we found out that White was wrong we fired him."

That was in 1947, a year after White's appointment.

But James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, just as promptly on Friday challenged Truman's statement about the firing. Hagerty said White had resigned with a congratulatory note from Truman on his work.

Truman replied to this by saying it was and still is customary to fire people resign from Washington jobs. It was to clear whether, after he found White was "wrong," Truman had an investigation made to learn what damage, if any, White might have caused the country.

White's record is now being examined at the Treasury, where he worked most of his 14-year career in the government.

Yesterday, in support of his charges, Brownell said the FBI reports on White had been sent not only to the White House but to some members of Truman's cabinet, including James F. Byrnes, and some other high officials.

At the time of those two FBI reports, Byrnes was Truman's secretary of state. The two men were friends then. But by the time Byrnes resigned they were bitter political antagonists ever since.

Last night Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, said he had not seen the first FBI report (December 1945) because he was out of the country then. But he said he saw the second one (February 1946) and went to Truman about it at once.

Byrnes said Truman told him he also had seen the FBI report and was surprised. Between the first and second FBI reports Truman had nominated White to the monetary fund job, which required Senate approval.

In his statement Byrnes said he urged Truman to withdraw the nomination. But on that very day, and was nominated for the presidency by the opposition Nacionalista party.

150,000 Flock to See Elephant

BALTIMORE, Md. — Eight-year-old Jackie Justice was among some 150,000 grownups and kids who have flocked to the Baltimore Zoo to get a look at the new baby elephant, a 3-year-old acquired last week.

Jackie was amazed. He had no idea a baby elephant would be so big — big in every detail.

Why, the elephant's "nose" was as long as an arm, Jackie marveled.

The cause? "Big. Like a flap of paper, only with hair and cut almost round. Maybe like a cog's ear, but much, much bigger."

"The legs? "Gee, as big around as a tree," exclaimed Jackie.

And the elephant's skin? "Hard. Like my coat, only stiffer."

Jackie's picture of the 500-pound Byrnes said, the Senate had approved White, not knowing about the FBI reports.

Thus Byrnes was saying that Truman new in February 1946 about the FBI report on White, whereas Truman has said as soon as he learned White was "wrong," he fired him, which was not until 1947.

Brownell said two other Cabinet members at that time—Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson and Secretary of Defense James Forrestal—had been given the FBI reports. Forrestal and Vinson, who later became chief justice, are both dead.

In his statement Byrnes said he talked with Vinson about White on the same day he had talked with Truman — that Vinson came to see him after being told by Truman about White.

Byrnes said it was his understanding that Vinson intended to urge Truman not to appoint White to the monetary fund job even though the Senate that day had approved him. But he heard no more about it, Byrnes said, until he read in the papers that White had been commissioned for the job by Truman.

elephant was certainly as detailed and accurate as any description of the pint-sized pacyderm. But then Jackie is a pretty keen observer. He's also blind.

He got his "look" at the baby elephant from the arms of Arthur Watson, director of the zoo.

Watson broke a long-standing rule of the zoo by taking Jackie inside the elephant's cage.

Jackie was amazed. He had no idea a baby elephant would be so big — big in every detail.

White's Ghost May Play Part in History

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Harry Dexter White, the financial economist who died in 1948, may become the most active ghost in American history on matters who looks better in the end, Democrats or Republicans.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, in an official charge that the Truman administration knew White was a Russian spy but promoted him, has raised questions the public will want answered.

Did Brownell intend to state in a fact that former President Truman knew White to be a spy when he gave him an important government job? If the English language has any meaning, Brownell seemed to have said that.

Now can he prove it? Truman denies it. If Brownell can prove it, what is his attorney general going to do about it?

Truman said he fired White when he learned White was "wrong." But nevertheless let him resign. Truman says this procedure was "right." The record shows Truman congratulated him on his service to the government.

Truman says it never has been proved White was a spy. But once he did learn White was "wrong," what did Truman do to have him promoted or at least investigated further to find out what damage he had done?

Brownell says it was Truman's ally, Maj. Gen. Henry H. Vaughan, who was given FBI reports on White for the President. Vaughan says he doesn't remember them and is now hearing of White for the first time.

Did he read such FBI reports? Was it his job to do so and then tell the President? Or did he give this task to someone else in the White House and depend on him?

If so, who was he? What happened to the reports? In making his charges against White in a speech to the Economic Club in Chicago last Friday, FBI on Feb. 4, 1948, after Truman

Brownell was not talking off the cuff or depending upon memory, which can be unreliable.

He read from a deliberately prepared text. As Attorney general, he must assume full responsibility for what he said, whether or not he had help in the writing.

At one place in his talk Brownell said:

"Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government service."

Two paragraphs later he added: "While the police authorities for the federal government were responsible in detail by the FBI to the White House by means of a report delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Vaughan, in December 1943."

The phrase "in detail" is important. It is important that Truman should be informed in detail of the report that White was a spy. It is important that Truman should be informed in detail of the report that White was a spy.

In the very next paragraph Brownell said:

"In the face of this information it is probable that it may seem, but nevertheless let him resign. President Truman subsequently, Jan. 1, 1948, nominated White, who was then assistant secretary of the treasury, for the even more important position of executive director for the United States in the International Monetary Fund."

Although others may have recommended White to Truman for the monetary fund job it was Truman who nominated him for the job.

In the first paragraph quoted here Brownell said "the very people who appointed White knew he was a spy." In the third quoted paragraph Brownell has Truman doing the appointing.

Unless he qualifies these statements later, Brownell clearly seems to be saying Truman knew White was a spy but nevertheless promoted him.

Truman says he knew nothing about what Brownell said was a spy. FBI reports on White as a spy—none in December 1943 or one delivered to Vaughan by the (Economic Club in Chicago last Friday, FBI on Feb. 4, 1948, after Truman

State Cotton Crop Also Increases

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 10.—A lack of an early frost reportedly accounted for a 100,000 bale increase in Arkansas cotton crop estimate for 1953.

The estimate for 1953 is 1,435,000 bales, compared with 1,335,000 bales in 1952.

Malcolm McPhee, agricultural statistician yesterday said that last month's estimate was made when growers thought the late crop was lost. However, McPhee said, the plants yielded additional growth and better prospects for a better crop.

Three years' crop statistics show a higher than the 1,300,000 bales produced in 1952, and well above the 1949 average from 1942 of 1,335,000 bales.

McPhee said that as of Nov. 1 about 74 per cent of the cotton crop had been ginned. He said the ginned crop amounted to 1,050,000 bales as compared to 1,002,250 bales for the same period last year.

The squirrel turns tables, bites man

FIFTY SQUID. The head of a vicious squid that bit two persons was sent to Little Rock yesterday for examination by state authorities.

The squid had bitten the leg of the Rev. J. D. Simpson while he was cleaning the outside of his home windows. It then dashed to the home of Mrs. Ella Turner, Simpson's neighbor, where Mrs. Turner was bitten on the hand. Police killed the animal.

U. S. traffic fatalities in 1952 were seven and two-tenths persons per 100 million vehicle miles, the lowest since records have been kept.

It was only later, Truman says, that he found out White was "wrong" and fired him.
